The Quarto Group UK

Frances Lincoln Children's Books first began to publish for children in 1983 and today is considered one of the world's most respected publishers on the topic of cultural diversity. The list also has a notable tradition in non-fiction publishing and is proud to publish in partnership with key institutions including the Natural History Museum and Amnesty International. The list is strongly supported by bookshops, libraries and institutions internationally, and prides itself in working with some of the world's most innovative illustrators and storytellers.

Wide Eyed Editions was founded in 2014 and creates original non-fiction for children and families. Wide Eyed Editions believes that books should encourage curiosity about the world we live in, inspiring readers to set out on their own journey of discovery. The imprint champions contemporary illustration and physical books, bringing a new sense of wonder to classic themes in simple, quality formats that look and feel like beautiful objects. Wide Eyed books focus on key interests in the arts, natural history and armchair travel.

Ivy Kids. The relaunched Ivy Kids list, Quarto's first sustainably-produced imprint, rewilds young minds with hopeful stories and inspiring information about the natural world. The books themselves are sustainably printed on recycled paper, locally in the UK and using renewable energy to minimise the environmental impact of their production.

Happy Yak. Launching in Summer 2021, Happy Yak is a loveable new imprint for 0-7 year olds. Offering pre-school, picture books and illustrated non-fiction, our purpose is to publish playful books that make you smile. We understand the importance of supporting child development. Each of our pre-school series is underpinned by core developmental benefits, from interactive books that aid motor control through to first concepts such as words and numbers. It's not just pre-school we're yakking on about! Humorous and uplifting, our picture books make reading a joy that can be rediscovered again and again. And finally, if you're on the hunt for a book that will fill your child's head with knowledge whilst providing endless entertainment, take a look at our non-fiction offering. These factfilled, accessible titles make learning genuinely fun!

QED Publishing is a vibrant, eclectic list of fun educational books for children by expert writers and fantastic illustrators from around the world. Our diverse range of beautiful reference and engaging activity books help children learn more about a subject - at school or at home - and develop their interests beyond the classroom. With a focus on home learning, each of our books has been specifically written and designed to make learning exciting, stimulating and fun for children. Each QED book is designed with the aim of providing the skills and knowledge children need to think for themselves thus encouraging them to engage with the world around them. Our mission is simple - to create fresh, informative, high-quality books covering core educational topics and high-interest, curricula-adjacent themes that will appeal to children, parents and teachers alike.

Frances Lincoln Children's Books

2020 was the year Frances Lincoln Children's Books (FLCB) achieved our first number 1 NYT bestseller in This Book is Anti-Racist.

FLCB has always published books about the issues that matter. This year I am proud to be publishing Race Cars – a picture book that uses the metaphor of a car race to teach young children about white privilege. In June we have This Book is Feminist: an intersectional primer on feminism and what it truly means today.

Our picture book list sees the return of Joseph Coelho and Allison Colpoys, who brought us If All the World Were... a couple of years ago. My Beautiful Voice is an uplifting portrayal of a child overcoming shyness with the help of a wonderful teacher. I defy you not to cry. We are also welcoming a glorious new talent with Chelsea O'Byrne's If I Were King, delving into sorcery with A Natural History of Magick and bringing opera to children for the first time with Story Orchestra: The Magic Flute.

Finally, this will be the year that we reach sales of over 5 million copies on our Little People, Big Dreams series. We are celebrating with a blockbuster programme that includes Michelle Obama, Andy Warhol, Malala, Kamala Harris, and – for Christmas! – Charles Dickens. Each person has a unique story, but all teach the child reading that if they believe in themselves, they too can change the world.

KAMALA HARRIS

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara. Illustrated by Lauren Semmer
9780711265813

Little Kamala used to accompany her parents to civil rights marches in California, tied to her sister's pushchair so she wouldn't get lost. From an early age, she dreamed of becoming a lawyer to help people in need. At university, Kamala felt like she could do anything and everything. She earned a law degree to make sure the most vulnerable were protected by justice. Kamala's life was full of firsts, including becoming the first woman, Black woman, and South Asian American to be elected vice president. As Kamala stated to little girls everywhere in her speech – she may be the first but she won't be the last.

RUTH BADER GINSBURG

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara. Illustrated by Judit Orosz
9780711264687

Little Ruth's mum taught her to be a lady – which meant to be her own independent self. Ruth promised herself she would do everything her mother didn't get the chance to do. And she excelled: at university, as a law professor, and later on at the supreme court fighting gender discrimination.

MARILYN MONROE

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara. Illustrated by Ana Albero
9780711257771

Little Norma Jeane grew up between foster homes, an orphanage, and a family friend's house – where she was forbidden from watching movies. Through her difficult childhood and teen years, she dreamed of becoming an actress. One day a photographer spotted her and gave her a modelling contract, and from this day she was 'Marilyn Monroe'. She was much-admired but suffered from pre-performance anxiety, which was a challenge for her in her career.

Her films grossed over $200 million but she was known to have said: 'I don't want to make money. I just want to be wonderful.'

MICHELLE OBAMA

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara. Illustrated by Mia Saine
9780711259409

Young Michelle grew up on the South Side of Chicago in a close-knit family. She loved getting an education, achieving 'A's, and worked hard at the universities of Princeton and Harvard. Then, at the beginning of her legal career, she met Barack Obama. As first lady, she was an advocate for women and girls and continues to inspire many with her powerful voice, and best-selling books.

IRIS APFEL

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara. Illustrated by Kristen Barnhart
9780711258983

Growing up in Queens, New York, little Iris's grandmother would open a giant bag of fabric and let her play with scraps. This inspired a lifelong love of fashion. Famous for her eclectic style, built around oversized glasses, bright colours and bold jewellery, Iris was the subject of an exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art when she was just 84 years young.

ROSALIND FRANKLIN

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara. Illustrated by Naomi Wilkinson
9780711259560

Little Rosalind was born in London to a Jewish family who valued education and public service. Having studied physics and chemistry at Cambridge University, Rosalind moved to Paris to perfect her life's work in X-ray and crystallography. She then moved back to London where she worked on finding the structure of DNA with Maurice Wilkins but, after a fall-out, her contribution to the well-known DNA model was not acknowledged until after her death.

GRETA THUNBERG

Maria Isabel Sánchez Vegara
9780711266575

When young Greta learned of the climate crisis, she stopped talking. She couldn't understand why people in power were not doing anything to save our Earth. One day she started protesting outside the Swedish Parliament, creating the 'School Strike for Climate'. Soon, lots more young people joined her in a global movement that shook adults and politicians alike. She had found her voice and uses it to inspire humans to action with her powerful message: "No one is too small to make a difference."

RACE CARS

A CHILDREN'S BOOK ABOUT WHITE PRIVILEGE

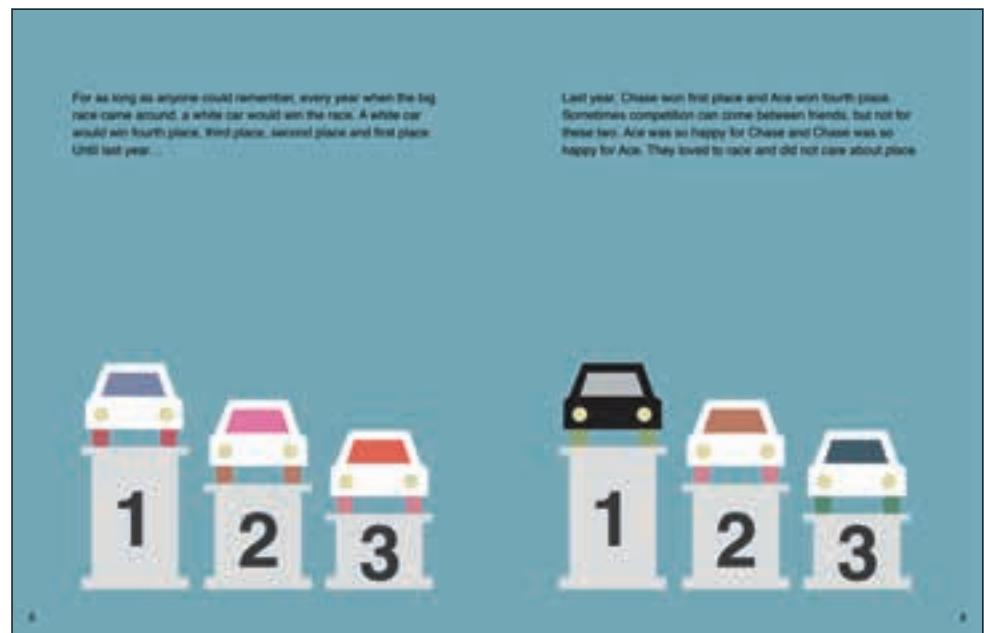

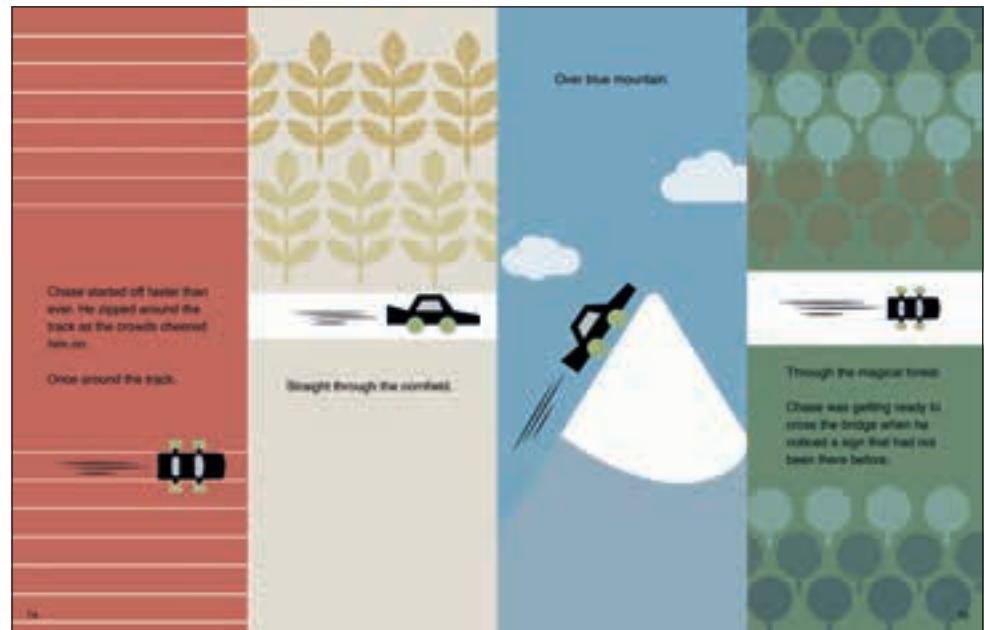

Jenny Devenny. Edited by Charnae Gordon

A children's book about white privilege, to encourage discussion.

A springboard for parents and educators to facilitate tough conversations about race, white privilege and oppression, Race Cars is written by a social worker with experience of anti-bias training. A white car and a black car who are best friends experience the same race and its rules differently. Notes and activities help further discussion with children, making this complex, yet crucial, topic easier to explain.

JENNY DEVENNY, LCSW, is a psychotherapist, author and illustrator. She is dedicated to providing anti-racist psychotherapy to children, adolescents and families and has experience facilitating groups and workshops on racism and white privilege.

A NATURAL HISTORY OF MAGICK

Poppy David. Illustrated by Jessica Roux

Magic is so much more than waving a wand and muttering the magic words.

It is a natural force and it is everywhere. Find out how to divine answers from the sun, read tarot cards, choose the perfect familiar and which tree could make the best wand to suit your personality.

This is a guide for anyone interested in the world of magic, how to spot it and, importantly, how to channel it.

We'll Be Together Again

Lucy Menzies. Illustrated by Maddy Vian

Two books in one. Enjoy them on their own, then read them side-by-side to see the full story.

Belle and Grandpa are the best of friends. But Mum says Grandpa Jack can't come to visit for a while, and everything is different.

Belle lives with her family in the city. Grandpa Jack lives alone in the snowy mountains. Being apart is hard – they miss each other more than anything. When a teddy from Grandpa Jack arrives to keep Belle safe, it means the whole world to her. But Belle worries about her grandpa.

Will he be okay on his own? Who will make sure he's okay? And when will they be together again?

Opening the book reveals two booklets inside – one that follows Belle in the city, and another that shows us Grandpa Jack in the snowy mountains. The beautifully illustrated stories can be read on their own as well as side-by-side.

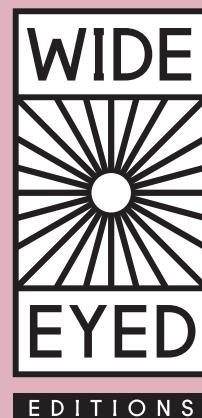

We'll Be Together Again is a unique reading experience and a beautiful story for anyone who knows how it feels to be separated from their loved ones.

MADDY VIAN is an illustrator and art director living by the sea in Kent. After graduating from Kingston School of Art, she has worked on a wide range of creative projects, from animated music videos to storybook apps. Her illustrations are often thoughtful and nostalgic. LUCY MENZIES is a writer and editor.

AN ATLAS OF LOST KINGDOMS, PAGE 42

Wide Eyed Editions welcomes you to a world of wonder! We aim to bring you on a journey of discovery, from the incredible natural beauty of our planet to the marvels of human creativity. Our books focus on engrossing non-fiction content and fun novelty titles, combined with spectacular illustration and design.

A Wide Eyed book is easy to spot, with cool and contemporary art styles, and text from subject experts and the best non-fiction authors all brought together in a brilliant package, perfect for families to pore over together, and revisit time and again.

This season I am especially excited to share the stunning retelling of the story of the brave ship Carpathia, in Rescuing Titanic, by debut author-illustrator Flora Delargy. Flora's own great-grandfather worked on the shipyards where the Titanic was built, and she combines meticulous research with powerful illustrations which make this narrative non-fiction book unputdownable.

Another fantastic offering with a survivor theme this autumn is the forthcoming Spin to Survive: Frozen Mountain. The pop-out 'fortune spinner' that comes embedded in the cover give the playable storylines an extra dimension of chance. With multiple ways to survive – or perish! – in the Frozen Mountains, this book can be enjoyed again and again.

With the help of the magic magnifying glass, Mind-Boggling Machines explores the machines that make the world go round.

Supersonic cars, jumbo jets and even space shuttles are shown in eye-popping illustrations and accompanied by scientific detail. The built-in magic lens reveals a hidden layer of nuts and bolts, where readers discover just what keeps these marvels chugging along. Magic Magnifying Glass: Mind-Boggling Machines is the perfect introduction to STEM subjects for budding scientists.

MY AMAZING BODY

Honor Head

Here, the magic magnifying glass lets readers see inside the most fascinating place of all: the human body!

Organs, muscles, nerves and bones are explored like never before as the built-in magic lens takes readers beneath the surface. From the hair on our heads to the tips of our toes, each bit of the body has a job to do, and Magic Magnifying Glass: My Amazing Body reveals the hidden wonders that get it done. This hands-on interactive exploration book will delight any curious 6-8-year-old.

SPACECRAFT STUDY

Today, different types of spacecraft are sent into space to do different jobs. Space probes explore distant planets. Satellites orbit the Earth and send back information. These impressive machines don't require astronauts – they can be controlled right from Earth.

PARKER SOLAR PROBE

This probe is exploring the Sun by orbiting closest to it. This probe is also closest to Earth than any other probe ever made.

CURIOSITY

This rover has landed on Mars to search for signs of life on the surface.

HUBBLE TELESCOPE

This telescope orbits the Earth in space. It takes pictures of planets, stars and galaxies billions of light years away in space. This helps scientists learn about the universe of far-out things.

WEATHER SATELLITE

This satellite orbits the Earth in space. It looks at clouds and weather patterns to predict changes in temperature, humidity and more. This agency is useful to stop the weather off the bad weather dangers around the world.

INTERNATIONAL SPACE STATION

Six astronauts live and work on the International Space Station (ISS) at a time. It has a bedroom, a gym, a greenhouse to grow plants, and laboratories. Astronauts use the ISS to learn more about space.

ROBOTIC ARMS

When working outside the International Space Station, astronauts need to use robotic arms to do it. They don't have to do it themselves because they don't have arms.

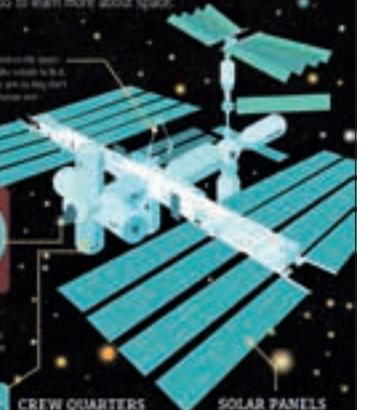

LABORATORY

Scientists use this to study what happens to people when they live in space. They can see what they eat, sleep, play or sleep better or worse.

CREW QUARTERS

This is where the astronauts sleep. Because there is gravity in space, they lie flat instead of sitting up. This is because it's easier to sleep when you're not moving. That's why they sometimes stand while they sleep and train their bodies.

SOLAR PANELS

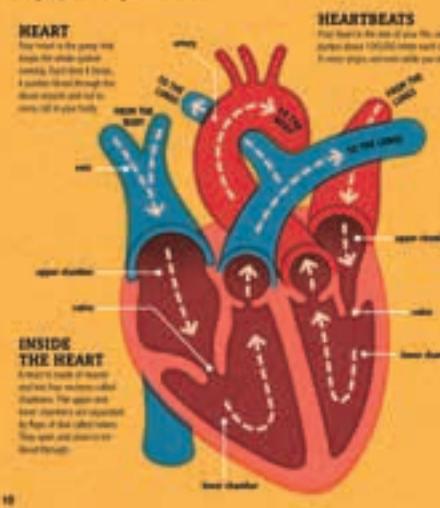

The ISS is powered by electricity. It has four main panels that can capture the energy.

THE HEART AND BLOOD

If you've ever had a cut, you know that there's blood inside your body. But did you know that blood has a very important job? It carries oxygen and nutrients around your body, through tubes called blood vessels. They are part of a system that includes a very important organ: the heart.

HEART

The heart is the pump that drives the blood around the body. It beats about once every second, pumping blood through the veins and arteries and to every cell in your body.

INSIDE THE HEART

Anatomists divide the heart into four chambers called atria and two chambers called ventricles. The upper and lower chambers are separated by valves or thick-walled valves. They open and close to let blood through.

HEARTBEATS

Your heart is the size of your fist and it pumps about 5 litres of blood every minute. It beats about 100,000 times a day. It never stops, unless you die.

WORKING WITH THE LUNGS

Your lungs help oxygenate your blood. The lungs swap carbon dioxide for oxygen to keep the blood healthy. The heart then pumps oxygenated blood to the rest of the body.

ARTERIES

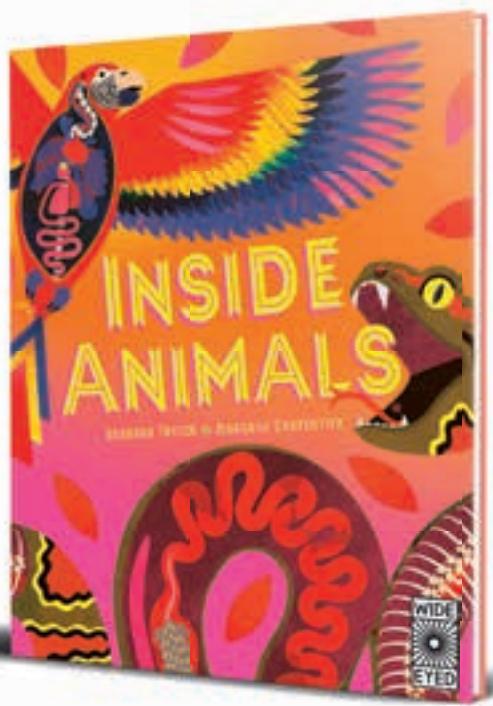

The blood vessels that carry oxygenated blood away from the heart are called arteries. They carry oxygenated blood to the rest of the body.

VEINS

The veins bring oxygenated blood back to the heart. The deoxygenated blood goes back through the veins to the heart to pick up more oxygen to pass through the heart muscle.

CAPILLARIES

tiny vessels that carry oxygenated blood to the body. They are the smallest blood vessels, which have very thin walls so oxygen can pass through them easily. Oxygen passes into all cells of the body.

INSIDE ANIMALS

THE BRILLIANT AND BIZARRE BODIES OF BEASTS BIG AND SMALL

Barbara Taylor. Illustrated by Margaux Carpentier

To survive and thrive in the wild, each animal has its own unique body.

That means there are all kinds of brilliantly bizarre body parts to behold, such as the honey stomach of a bee and the ink sac of an octopus. Bursting with mind-blowing information, readers will love quizzing their friends and family with fascinating facts. Each brightly-coloured spread focuses on a different creature from around the world, and dedicated spotlight spreads take a closer look at organs such as the heart, brain and lungs.

It's the perfect gift for curious readers everywhere!

LORE OF THE WILD
FOLK WISDOM AND TALES FROM NATURE
Claire Cockstarkey. Illustrated by AITCH

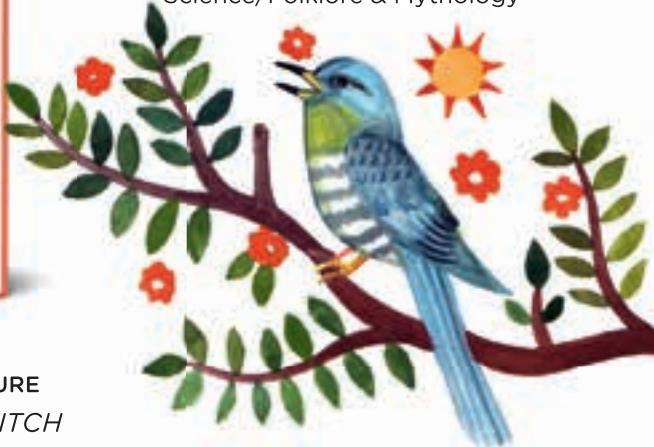

Did you know that people used to believe that rabbits' ears would twitch in the direction of a thunderstorm?

That lilies could be used as fairy lamps? And that taking dandelions into the house would make you wet the bed? Traditional nature folklore can help us to understand how our ancestors interacted with the world around them, allowing us to see nature in a whole new light. Containing natural folklore and wild wisdom from all around the world, this book provides for appreciation of different cultures, as well as an engagement with the beauty of the natural environment.

FROM PHARAOHS TO FAIR VOTES

Clive Gifford

What do you think of when you hear 'politics'? Is it grey-haired men in suits, shouting at each other? Well, you're partly right... but there are also many crazy stories and some weird history in the political world. A Quick History of Politics takes a look at the silly side of government and explains the important stuff, like suffrage, elections and getting your voice heard.

Juvenile Nonfiction/Social Science/Politics & Government

A TIME BEFORE MONEY

Imagine! We walked around barefoot to begin with. Please think about it for a little while. But all sorts of questions pop up in your head:

'Well, look in the sky you're talking about more than 12,000 years ago. There were no "coins" or computers, nor were there governments, laws or drivers. A bit out of the real-world sanity, wasn't it?'

The plain-clothes 100,000-year-old Neanderthal ancestor has developed their diverse interests by growing up like a mould of the world around them.

Early people lived their lives in wonderlands called HOMELANDS. They roamed the land, hunting animals and birds, and gathering plants, roots, seeds and roots to eat.

When you don't have a home and one constantly sets the mouse, it's funny how little stuff you need. Most touch mouse perhaps traps an animal skin to keep you warm, sheep skins to cut and tan, and a pointed stick to hunt and defend yourself.

Some tribes are still ADAPTED to their society and ARMED to the teeth. We were happy with a spear and a bow.

This style of life continued in many parts of the world to this day. Millions of INDIGENOUS tribes live the TRADITION in the Amazon rainforest and the CONTINENT in the Indian Ocean, still hunt, gather and live without money. Other peoples with no money participated in the past by using TRADING.

WHO CARES?

You should!

Politics isn't just rich old men (and a few women) arguing loudly on TV and shouting at phones.

From BLACK LIVES MATTER and CLIMATE CHANGE campaigns to the differing ways countries help their poorest or tackle the 2019 CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC, politics affects everyone. Whenever there are decisions to be made and objectives to be settled, politics is usually present.

Now we're ruled by hundreds of laws and regulations – many sensible, some a bit bonkers. Most are created by LEGISLATORS and NATIONAL GOVERNMENTS. These bodies also fund many things you enjoy (schools, buses, facilities, schools) and things you may not enjoy (but are important) (police, waste collection, hospitals... at school).

You might be passionate about issues such as climate change, discrimination, violence in your neighbourhood, poverty or endangered wildlife. If you are, it pays to get engaged with politics as it's the main way improvements can and do come.

Remember how the word POLITIC comes from the ancient Greek word Politikos, meaning a person not interested in politics, people and the outside world?

Now, there are quite a few adults in the world and not everyone is interested in or understands all of the issues all of the time. So, in more than half the world's countries today, people called REPRESENTATIVES are chosen by the public to act as their voice in government. But this hasn't been many centuries ago...

HOW TO GREET A GRAN

Donna Amey Bhatt. Illustrated by Aura Lewis

There is no one quite like a gran. They can be funny, wise, warm – and they come with a variety of hairstyles!

How to Greet a Gran is a tribute to grandmothers, everywhere. Young readers can travel the world and learn all about grans, including some of the special skills they have, such as passing down traditions and pondering life's big questions. The pages include fun profiles of different global grandmas – from a Dutch Oma to a Russian Babushka. Each profile describes how to pronounce the gran's name, and explains a little about traditions in her country. Readers can discover what foods, hobbies, and fashions each gran might enjoy, learn what wisdoms they might share, and find out how to greet each one with love.

This book encourages readers to celebrate and appreciate these special family figureheads and is the perfect gift for grannies and grandkids to share and enjoy together.

ONLY IN AMERICA!

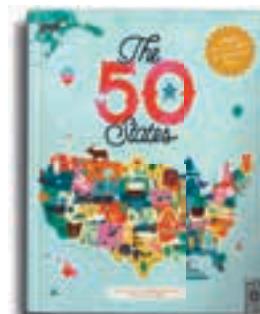

THE WEIRD AND WONDERFUL 50 STATES

Heather Alexander. Illustrated by Alan Berry Rhys

A state-by-state compendium of weird laws, quirks, one-offs and unusual records only to be found in the wonderfully wacky US of A.

Discover unique, strange, funny, record-breaking and downright unbelievable facts about every state in the USA. See the strangest claims to fame and the most unusual place names every state has to offer. Visit the city of 'Dinosaur', drop by the Pizza Museum, find out where it is illegal to feed a pig without a permit and check out the world's only 'carhenge' (that's right, a stone henge reconstructed using cars). This is an alternative and hilarious look at quirky phenomena that are truly only in America. Illustrated by the brilliant Alan Berry-Rhys in a bold graphic style that evokes nostalgic Americana styling.

WHEN WE WENT WILD, PAGE 62

The best children's books don't simply entertain or inform. They shape the very way that we interact with, and think about, the world around us. Many of the books that made a lasting impression on me when I was little had ecological themes, and so it is a privilege and a responsibility for me to be sharing with you our relaunched Ivy Kids list, Quarto's first sustainably-produced imprint.

The books on this list are being printed on 100% post-consumer recycled paper, meaning no new trees have been cut down to make them, and less water is needed for their production, too. The press where they are made is right here in the UK, meaning emissions from transport are reduced, and the materials have been carbon balanced through offsetting schemes here in the UK, and around the world.

A small, carefully selected list of only a few titles each year, we are focusing on books that will meaningfully encourage little ones to engage with our natural world. This season we have two titles in the Little Country Cottage series, our Autumn and Winter Treasuries of Recipes, Crafts and Wisdom. Even though the news about the environment can seem disheartening, our new, eco-printed Ivy Kids list celebrates the best of nature, and provides hopeful, joyful stories and non-fiction to help our young readers forge a lifelong connection to the natural world.

Because big changes start with small seeds.

MY FIRST Book OF DINOSAUR COMPARISONS

Sara Hurst. Illustrated by Ana Seixas

Packed with comparisons, fascinating facts and fun challenges, this book helps children get the measure of their favourite prehistoric creatures.

This vibrantly illustrated book shines a light on dinosaurs like never before! Using striking visual comparisons, quiz questions and bite-sized facts, this book, teaches children aged five and older, all about their favourite prehistoric creatures.

Readers can compare the deadliest dinosaurs with today's top predators, discover which teeny dinos size up with our pets, and discover just how long Therizinosaurus' claws were

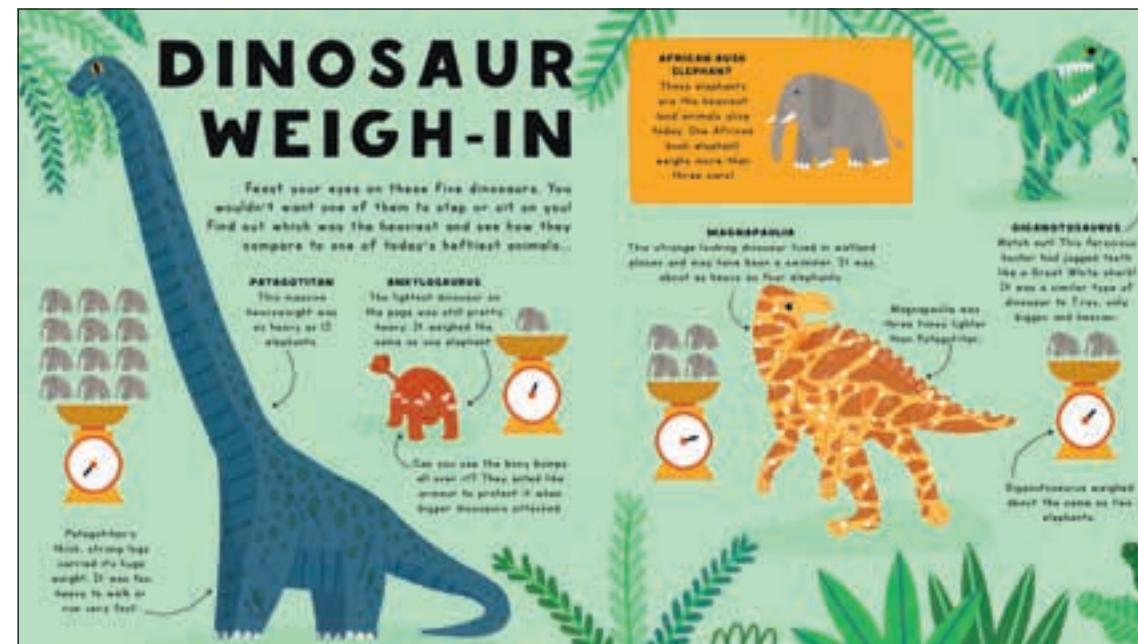

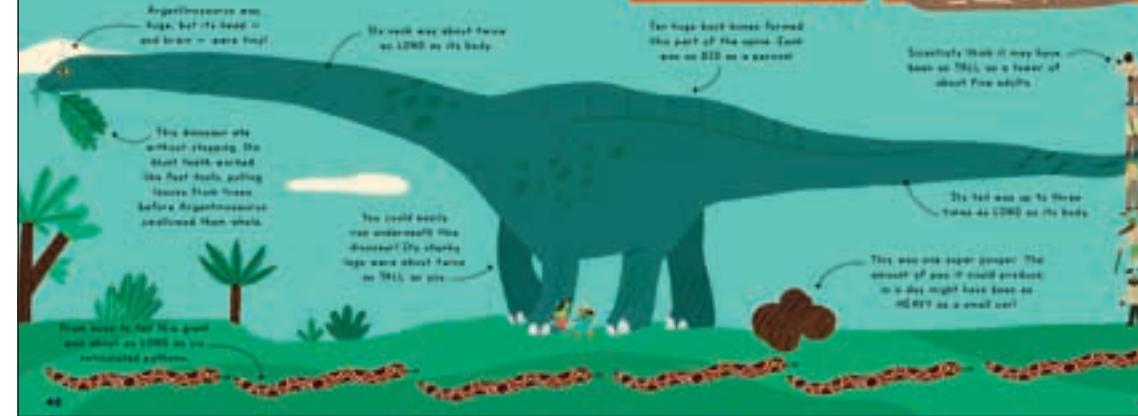

(as long as a five-year old child!). Children will be amazed at what they discover in My First Book of Dinosaur Comparisons and will have plenty of unforgettable facts to dazzle their friends and family with.

SARA HURST is a non fiction children's writer and editor who enjoys creating books for imaginative young minds. ANA SEIXAS is a Portuguese graphic designer and illustrator whose work is bold, humorous and child-friendly.

HUGE AND HUNGRY

Take a tour around this colossal plant-eater! Argentinosaurus was one of the largest of all the dinosaurs. Let's size up some of its features.

DELIGHTFULLY DIFFERENT DILLY

Elizabeth Dale. Illustrated by Liam Darcy

A touching picture book about a little penguin, Dilly, who has just one leg.

When Dilly is born, her parents think she is perfect – from the top of her head to the bottom of her foot. The other babies notice that Dilly is different, but soon accept her and love her different ways of doing things. The adults aren't sure though – they love how all the other penguins are the same. Can the younger penguins convince their parents that there's space for Dilly? And that positive change can be a good thing? Dilly is a delightful, fun and positive character with a strong voice. This is a charming story of acceptance and change.

ONE MOMENT IN TIME

Ben Lerwill. Illustrated by Alette Straathof

The perfect follow-up to One World, Many Colours, One Moment in Time takes readers on a journey around the globe, showing how children in different parts of the world are doing very different things at exactly the same time.

Each spread features a primary school-age child doing something that young readers can relate to, with the overall aim of highlighting similarities and differences around the world – as well as showing how we all share the same planet, the same moments, the same sun. The book includes simple, recurring motifs to highlight the positive message that children around the world have many things in common, as well as fascinating differences.

If a kid has a shelf filled with QED books, the world is their oyster – they can learn anything and everything they want to! From natural history and STEM to mental health and current events, QED has got it covered...

QED is a vibrant, eclectic list of fun educational books for children by expert writers and fantastic illustrators from around the world. Our diverse range of beautiful reference and engaging activity books help children learn more about a subject – at school or at home – and develop their interests beyond the classroom.

With a focus on home learning, each of our books has been specifically written and designed to make learning exciting, stimulating and fun for children. All our books offer children something that can help them long after the book is closed: an appreciation of the value of well-researched, accurate facts. Our mission is simple – to create fresh, informative, high-quality books covering core educational topics and high-interest, curricula-adjacent themes that will appeal to children, parents and teachers alike. A practical, accessible and family-friendly approach to education and home learning is at the heart of all QED titles.

We have some fantastic titles for 2021, two of my personal favourites are When Plants Took Over the Planet and Own Your Period.

Two very different topics but these books really showcase exactly what QED is about – books that inspire, educate and entertain.

OWN YOUR PERIOD

Chella Quint. Illustrated by Giovana Medeiros

This guide to periods for pre-teens has positive, no-nonsense advice on owning and understanding our bodies.

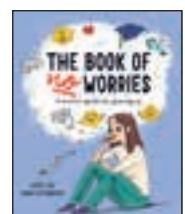

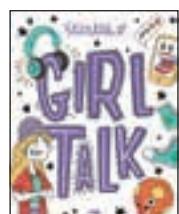

Celebrate what the body can do and provide pre-teens (age 9+) with everything they need to be prepared and empowered. With science and details of menstruation through to the menopause, it also answers essential questions like what do periods actually feel like, and what happens if blood stains your clothes?

Chella Quint's witty text busts common myths and fights period shame, while providing practical information about menstrual products, tracking a cycle and sharing her personal stories. An essential handbook, which young girls can refer to both before and after their periods start.

1 Sugar Sparks

WHAT YOU'LL NEED:

- Wintergreen mint candies
- Regular pills (not needle-nosed)
- Plastic bag that stays closed
- Completely dark room. Closets work great!

WHAT TO DO:

- 1 First, practice steps 2-4 in the light, so your hands will know what to do in the dark.
- 2 Seal a few mints inside the plastic bag.
- 3 Position the pills on the outside of the bag around a mint inside the bag.

4 Squish pills to crush the candies. Be careful of your fingers!

5 Hold the empty bag with one hand before moving into the dark room.

6 Allow your hand at least five minutes to adjust to the dark. This might be tiring, but that's good! The brighter the candy spark will appear.

7 Repeat steps 2-6 in the dark. Crush at the mint and marvel at the light given off when each capsule of your choice!

How'd I Do That?

Ever accidentally touch a metal doorknob after shuffling your feet across a carpet? OUCH! You experienced static electricity. When a material is pushed, pulled, scratched, crushed or rubbed, the electrical charges inside it separate and move around. Under the right conditions, all that moving electricity causes tiny sparks.

Pavilion Children's Books publish a range of beautiful picture books and non-fiction titles, and this year we launch our new illustrated fiction range. Our books each have a strong voice, a clear message and wonderful illustrations.

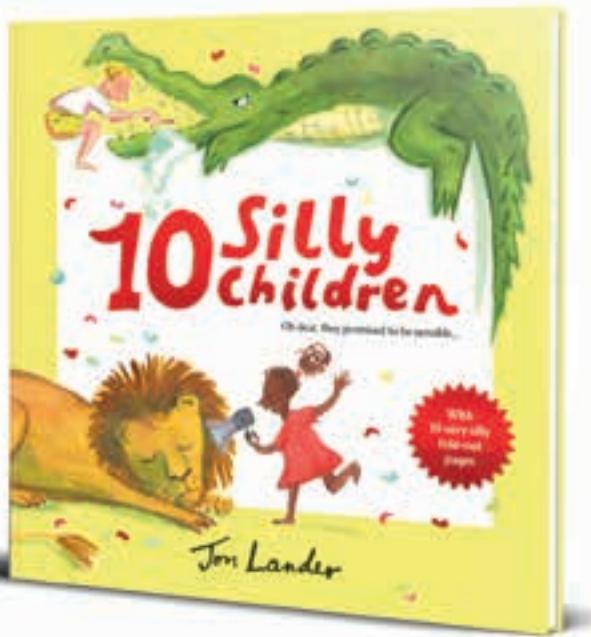

This autumn, Booker-shortlisted Mick Jackson teams up with renowned illustrator John Broadley to follow up their smash hit While You're Sleeping. Their second book, We're Going Places, is all about the journeys we take through life, both physically and metaphorically.

In non-fiction we publish the stunning Atlas of Amazing Migration by Matt Sewell. Matt's expressive watercolour illustrations depict the birds, mammals, fish and other creatures that make some of the most arduous journeys across the world.

Our new illustrated fiction list launches with a bang this autumn. From the brilliant Pam Smy, The Hideaway combines real world issues with supernatural elements in a gripping and moving story of loss and reconciliation.

10 SILLY CHILDREN

Jon Lander

A fun and joyous book in a unique format, with special fold-out pages. The story also teaches children their first 10 numbers.

When you open the fold-out pages, what first appears to be a book about very sensible children turns out to be about children behaving in a very silly manner indeed!

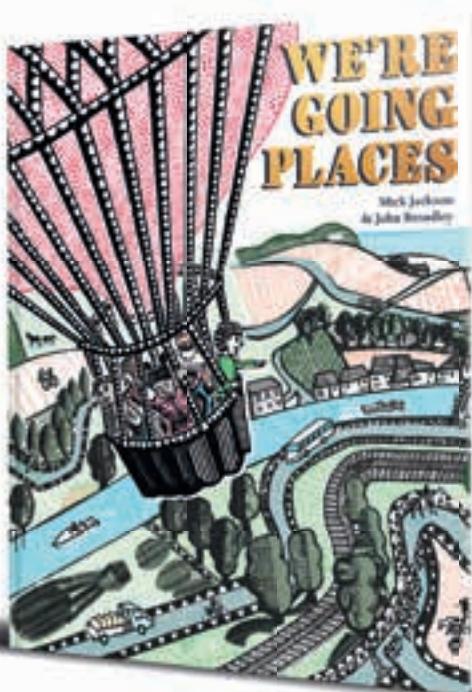

At first glance it seems that the children are sitting quietly, getting clean in the bath, brushing their teeth and helping with the washing.

But a closer inspection, under those fold-out pages, reveals the truth – they’re shouting, having a mud bath, brushing the teeth of a crocodile and dressing up a ferocious lion – with y-fronts on his head! Oh dear, and that’s only the start.

This is a very silly book all about very silly children, but it also teaches children about behaving properly, expressing themselves, and how to count to 10. So a very sensible book after all, behind all that silliness!

JON LANDER is a UK-based author and illustrator. His critically acclaimed illustrations are drawn freehand using watercolours and inks, giving them spontaneity and originality. In 2018 he completed his MA in Children's Book Illustration at the Cambridge School of Art, Anglia Ruskin University.

WE'RE GOING PLACES

John Broadley and Mick Jackson

The second children's book from the wonderful illustrator John Broadley and Booker-shortlisted writer, Mick Jackson, following their glorious debut picture book While You're Sleeping.

Mick Jackson's poetic prose and John Broadley's detailed and unique illustrations make this a special book to read again and again, and treasure for years to come. Beautifully illustrated in a limited colour palette, the winding, lyrical text follows a child's growth through travel – from crawling to walking, skating to biking and then on to trains, boats and planes. It also looks at the 'journey of life', how the paths we take and decisions we make can change our destiny, and how we form lasting memories as we grow.

Starting with a child learning to crawl and walk and ending with a grandparent reflecting on their experience, it's a beautiful evocation of the journeys we all take through our lives.

JOHN BROADLEY's work has included decorating interiors, menus and branding for Quo Vadis restaurant, Soho, and packaging for the Fine Cheese Company, Berry Bros & Rudd, and Fortnum & Mason. John has illustrated books and magazines, but While You're Sleeping was his first children's book.

MICK JACKSON is an award-winning novelist and screenwriter from Lancashire, UK. His first novel The Underground Man was shortlisted for the Booker Prize. He was appointed writer-in-residence at the Science Museum in 2011.

THE THREE WISHES

A CHRISTMAS STORY

Alan Snow

From bestselling children's author and illustrator Alan Snow comes a beautifully told and stunningly illustrated Father Christmas origin story.

This gorgeous illustrated story helps to explain all of the traditions and myths around Father Christmas: how he visits every child around the world in one night, how he got his red coat, how his reindeer can fly, and more.

A young boy in the far North is herding his family's reindeer when they are drawn into a mysterious cave. The cave is the holder of eternal summer, looked after by three guardians. Once entered, the cave cannot be left without time in the outside world standing still.

The boy is granted three wishes and chooses freedom, happiness and time. He is told that they will all be granted – eventually. Each winter he is allowed to leave the cave to visit his family, and each year, as time stands still, he travels further and further, leaving gifts as signs of his return.

ALAN SNOW is an award-winning children's book illustrator and designer who has written and illustrated more than 160 books for children. His novel, Here Be Monsters, was made into an animated film, The Boxtrolls, which spent several weeks at the top of the UK box office in 2015. Alan has won numerous awards for his work as a children's book illustrator as well as for design and computer animation.

GEORGIE GROWS A DRAGON

Emma Lazell

The brilliant third book from a rising star of the picture book world, tipped as 'one to watch' by The Bookseller magazine.

Georgie is a keen gardener. She can grow anything. Until one morning she discovers that... overnight... it seems that she's grown a dragon! He's bigger, grumpier, hungrier and more troublesome than any of her other plants. Can she learn to keep him happy and find out where he came from? A colourful and surreal romp, packed with funny details, that animal lovers and little gardeners will adore.

OH MONTY!

Susannah Lloyd and Nici Gregory

A riotously funny story introducing the most naughty, dastardly picture book character of the year – Monty!

Monty is a charming but cunning cat, who, instead of looking after his owner's freshly baked cake, eats it all and then allows his fellow pet Tiddles to take all the blame. Twice.

Featuring a naughty character who gets away with his crime, this book will prompt lots of chat between children and adults as to the rights and wrongs of the situation. But this is also an uproariously funny book full of comic Tom and Jerry-style capers and charming illustrations bringing the dastardly Monty and gentle Tiddles brilliantly to life!

WILLIAM BEE'S WONDERFUL WORLD OF THINGS THAT GO!

William Bee

The complete set of William Bee's amazing vehicle books are now available in one bumper volume.

William Bee takes us on a grand tour of the world of amazing trucks, trains, boats, planes, tractors, and more! William loves things that go and he has lots of vehicles. There's his jet-powered truck that can go at 370mph, his Harrier Jump Jet which can take off vertically, the steam locomotive, the widest tractor in the world, the mini submarine and even his space rocket. And that's just the beginning of his collection.

QUENTIN BLAKE'S A CHRISTMAS CAROL

Charles Dickens and Quentin Blake

The inimitable Quentin Blake turns his artistic talents to Dickens' much-loved Christmas story in this beautiful gift edition of a timeless classic.

A Christmas Carol is the book that defines the Christmas spirit. Ebenezer Scrooge, a mean-spirited miser, is visited by three ghosts one Christmas Eve. The ghosts show Scrooge the true value of Christmas: charity, good humour and love for his fellow man. Quentin Blake's distinctive illustrations guide the reader through Scrooge's lively journey to find the meaning of Christmas. This unabridged edition contains a foreword by the illustrator and is the ultimate Christmas gift book.

QUENTIN BLAKE'S MAGICAL TALES

John Yeoman and Quentin Blake

A new gift edition of this beautifully illustrated treasury of more than a dozen little-known magical folk tales from around the world.

Escape to a faraway mystical world where anything can happen: where a boy can find a belt that gives him amazing strength, where a frog can be a princess in disguise, and where princes can fly on magic carpets. There are stories from all around the globe in this glorious celebration of lesser-known folk tales. Retold in wonderful detail by long-time Quentin Blake collaborator John Yeoman, these stories sparkle with enchantment, adventure, mystery and beautifully imagined exciting locations.

THE HIDEAWAY

Pam Smy

A haunting, atmospherically illustrated novel from the author of the highly acclaimed Thornhill.

Told in two alternating narratives, The Hideaway tells the story of Billy McKenna, who runs away from home and takes refuge in an overgrown graveyard. There he meets a mysterious but kind elderly man, who is tending the graves in preparation for something magical that is set to happen on All Souls Eve. The first narrative is told from Billy's perspective, while the second thread tells of the situation at home.

Covering themes of family, childhood, separation, reunion and loss, this is an important and beautifully illustrated book for middle grade readers right up to adults. Illustrated throughout with tonal and textured black and white drawings, the atmospheric illustrations highlight the drama and magic of the story. A series of wordless illustrations as the story reaches its climax adds to the beauty of the book.

PAM SMY studied Illustration at Cambridge School of Art, where she now lectures. Pam has illustrated books by Conan Doyle and Julia Donaldson, among others. Her first novel, Thornhill, was a critical and commercial success, shortlisted for the Waterstones Children's Book Prize among others.

IF YOU'RE READING YOUR MIND OF TIME DUE,
YOU'LL NEED TO KEEP YOUR STRENGTH UP.

Billy emerged the last. It was a look of awe. A warm dawn.

He stood in the doorway of the portal looking out through the sky and over the field in the bluish of the early night sky. The rose woolen blanket still wrapped around his boulders. Barely he pressed the warm nose into his mouth and his whole body was flooded with the glow of knowing that someone was looking out for him.

Then old men had been so disengaged. So free!

Crossed old legs. Billy thought, as he crepted and snipped down his hideaway for the night.

ATLAS OF AMAZING MIGRATION

Matt Sewell

Matt Sewell presents his selection of the most astonishing mammals, birds, reptiles, fish, insects and even plants that battle through the Earth's toughest conditions in order to survive, in a sumptuous celebration of our planet's most extreme journeys.

Gloriously illustrated in Matt's signature watercolours, and written with his usual wit and charm, this is a book for any animal lover to treasure. Follow flocks of arctic terns on their annual 40,000-kilometre journey between the Earth's poles. Join the monarch butterflies on their famous multi-generational pilgrimage from Canada to Mexico.

Be amazed by wildebeest, humpback whales, salmon, dragonflies and more. Find out how they make use of chemicals, the sun, or the Earth's magnetic field to navigate themselves on their impressive journeys across our amazing planet.

MATT SEWELL is an artist and illustrator who has been described as 'the Banksy of the bird world'. Matt has illustrated for The Guardian and Barbour, painted many murals and exhibited in cities around the world. He is an avid ornithologist, well known for his bird books, which include Our Garden Birds and Our Songbirds.

Burrowing owl (Athene cunicularia)

Burrowing owls are generally found in the central USA, where they live in burrows made by other animals like ground squirrels and prairie dogs. These birds are very social and live in colonies, often sharing the same nest hole. They are also known for their unique 'mimicry' behaviour, where they will copy the calls of other birds to attract females.

You'll often see pairs of owls perched on a single tree, depicting the 'male courtship display'. This is when the male arrives at the female's nest hole and begins to perform a series of calls and flights, before finally landing on the female's back. Whether this is to establish territory or simply show off, it's a remarkable sight. In addition to their unique 'mimicry' behaviour, burrowing owls have some seriously cool adaptations. For example, they have large nostrils located on top of their beaks, which allows them to breath while their head is buried in the sand.

THIS BOOK IS CRUELTY FREE

ANIMALS AND US

Linda Newbery

An informative introduction for animal-lovers and budding animal activists on how they can live a more cruelty-free life, by award-winning writer and lifelong animal rights advocate, Linda Newbery.

This guide for older children and young teenagers demystifies the morals and ethics around animals, wildlife and the environment. How can we eat a cruelty-free diet? How does the fashion industry affect animals? What are the ethics around pet ownership? What are the issues around show animals – zoos, circuses and holiday attractions? Why are insects crucial? This important book teaches us how to question ourselves, our family, our friends and society, and make the right choices to live a cruelty-free life.

Books with heart on issues that matter!

Welcome to EK Books! As a boutique children's picture book imprint, we pride ourselves on publishing sensitive stories, superbly told.

EK has received global recognition for successfully publishing on topics others fear to touch. There is a driving passion at EK and even just a quick glance at our books shows how much we care about making a difference. Our books are crafted by authors and illustrators whose backgrounds include teaching and psychology. These creators have a knack for unpacking complex issues, making them engaging and memorable for even our youngest readers.

From entering the world of a relative with dementia to a child with autism, from overcoming anxiety to coping with the loss of a parent, from finding the courage to step outside your comfort zone to exploring new countries, from moving house to making friends, and much more, EK has real life happily covered for children aged 4 to 10. Teacher's notes are prepared for each book to provide a guided learning experience for readers, making our books especially valuable resources for use in schools and libraries, as well as at home.

Teacher's notes and classroom resources are available from www.ekbooks.org.

TOY MOUNTAIN

Stef Gemmill. Illustrated by Katharine Hall

Join Sam as he finds out the value of looking after our belongings in this whimsically illustrated story about how children can have a part in reducing plastic waste and taking responsibility for the environment.

Sam's dreams seem to have come true when he becomes a toy tester for the Tiny Hands Toy Factory, and his house is filled with plastic toys in all sorts of shapes and colours.

But one by one and plonk by plonk, his shiny new toys start to break. Soon enough, Sam has a mountain of broken toys that just won't stop growing!

This engaging story highlights the huge amounts of plastic waste generated by 'consumer culture', and empowers children to take sustainability into their own hands.

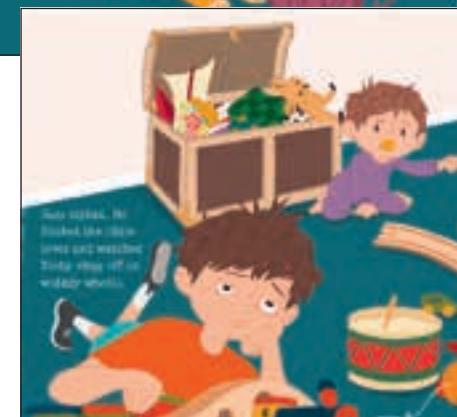

STEF GEMMILL is a children's author and former technical writer, teacher, and music journalist. Stef won the children's category of the International Rubery Book Awards with her picture book A Home For Luna in 2020. KATHARINE HALL is an illustrator based in Wellington, New Zealand.

'They have so many new toys in the factory, Grandma,' said Sam.

'I only have old ones.'

'Your toys are special, Sam. Especially since I played with them at your age,' she said. 'And you're good at sharing them with baby Max.'

THE INCREDIBLY BUSY MIND OF BOWEN BARTHOLOMEW CRISP

Paul Russell. Illustrated by Nicky Johnston

Bowen Bartholomew Crisp's mind is full of curious questions and mile-a-minute trains of thought. Learn how he finds his place in the world by using his ability to think differently as his greatest strength.

Most children would say that the ocean is blue, but when Bowen looks at it he sees white where the waves crash, deep black on the ocean floor, and green when there's a storm. Bowen sees the world differently and struggles to fit in. When he turns his uniqueness into his greatest strength, however, he finds his place in the world. Young readers, carers, teachers and psychologists alike will be inspired by this story of embracing diversity and encouraging children to think differently.

A BOY, HIS BEAR AND A BULLY

Katie Flannigan. Illustrated by PJ Reece

Find out what happens when Scott learns to stand up to his bully in this sensitive, inspiring book. With constructive guidance for bullying scenarios, it is essential reading for children who want to be brave.

Scott takes his bear, Buttons, to school with him every day to help him feel brave. He has to, because every day, Duncan is mean to him. When Buttons goes missing though, Scott has to look elsewhere to find his brave, and much to his surprise, he does. A Boy, his Bear and a Bully addresses the global issue of bullying in a hopeful, gentle way. It is an inspiring conversation starter for children, carers, and professionals, providing guidance for anyone who wishes they could be brave.

COOKIE

Isabelle Duff. Illustrated by Susannah Crispe

A sensitive exploration of childhood depression and the love between a pet and their person.

Cookie loves Girl more than anything – even chasing balls and smelling smells! Sometimes Girl is too sad to play with Cookie, but that's okay because Cookie is good at sad. You can lick it off, you know. With beautiful words and playful illustrations, Cookie is both a heart-warming tale about the love between a dog and their person, and a sensitive exploration of depression and anxiety. From dog-lovers to children who share Girl's feelings, everyone can learn something from this inseparable pair.
